Missionary Schooner Arrives Dining three times a day off a big box containing Bibles printed in the Gilbertese language, the work being the result of many years' labor on the part of the late Rev. Dr. Hiram Bingham of Honolulu, and using other boxes of Bibles as seats in the cramped quarters of the partitioned cabin, has been the privilege of the crew of the mis-sionary schooner Hiram Bingham, which arrived yeserday forenoon from San Francisco.

The little schooner of five tons got here just twenty-five days out from San Francisco, en route to the Gilbert Islands. The vessel will remain here about four or five days replenishing stores and taking on ballast, and will then set sail for the scene of Dr. Bingham's early missionary labors. Dr. Bingham was in the publishing house in New York when the first pages of the Bible were printed in the Gilbertese language, the result of a task which language, the result of a task which had take him more than a quarter of a century to perform. The printing of this Bible was the culmination of all his years of missionary labors in behalf of the Gilbert Islanders, and the fruits are now on the way to be distributed among the natives,

The Hiram Bingham left San Francisco on November 10 and considering her small size, the trip of twenty-five days is not a long one. For the first six hours after leaving San Francisco the schooner wkas propelled by the gasoline engine, but after that she de-gasoline engine, but after that she depended on sail power alone.

On arrival yesterday morning the schooner was visited by a large number of people interested in religious work, and she appealed to many, particularly at this time, owing to the recent death of the man after whom the vessel was named. Captain Walkup, his son and daughter, were taken in charge by W. A. Bowen and escorted to his home for luncheon, although others visited for luncheon, although others visited the vessel with the same idea in mind. Captain Walkup is a minister of the gospel as well as a scafarer, and is regospel as well as a scafarer, and is feel garded as a man of ability in both captain Sturges, Lee J. Sturges, Dr. occupations. His son is one of the crew on this trip, and his daughter, Miss Eleanor Walkup, is on the ship's articles as stewardess and cook. She has Wilson, Mrs. A. The Naval Station was interested yes-terday afternoon in the marriage of Mr. Branch, formerly a wireless opera-tor in the service of the United States Novy at Honolulu, but now the chief cleetrician of the Kahuku station of the Inter-Island Wireless Telegraph Company, and Miss Lyon of Beretania avenue. The wedding took place yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, and shortly afterward the years county left. the young couple left for Kahuku on the afternoon train. Mr. Branch is considered an expert in wireless telegraphy and the Naval Station people regretted that he did not reenlist when his term expired recently. But the offer of the local wireless company was tempting.

There must be money in the automo bile business if the allegation of a libel for divorce filed yesterday in the Circuit Court are true. Alina Goedeke who married William Goedeke in 1897, says that for nine years he has deserted her and failed to support her although, as it is alleged, he "is the owner of an automobile worth $3500, and derives an income of $400 per week therefrom."

In view of this the libelant asks an order requiring her chauffeur husband to pay her attorney's fee and her all-mony at the rate of $10 a week, which seems reasonable enough for a husband to do who has an income of $400 a week. Clement K. Patrick Quinn is the solicitor for the libelant, and as he has two brothers in the automobile business himself it seems natural enough that he should know something about the profits of the business. the profits of the business.

Though the Hiram Bingham is very small her cabin space is ample. It is a large cabin, divided into two parts. The forward section is reserved for the captain and his family. In this is his desk and berths and the place is quite commodious. The partition divides it from the quarters of the crew which are in the after part. In this section is the 45 horse-power gasoline engine, a relie of a former missionary schooner Hiram Bingham, capable of driving the vessel at nine knots. The crew's quarters are taken up with a considerable portion of the ship's provisions in boxes and many boxes of Bibles, dietonaries and bymn books. One large box makes a splendid mess table and smaller onces settees.

It is understood that the vessel acted a little craukily on the voyage, as she did not have sufficient ballast. Proper ballast will be taken on here.

The Hiram Bingham is registered as a five-ton schooner with auxiliary power. She is sixty-five feet in length and twenty-two feet beam. She was built at San Francisco by Anderson, the man who built the famous "Snark" for Jack London.

VAIN SEARCH FOR BURGLING INTRUDER

Police officers, restaurant patrons, a couple of Hawaiian girls and the head of a wholesale liquor house, formed part of a posse which made a thorough but unavailing search for an alleged burglar on Saturday evening, and everybody connected with the episode everybody connected with the episone is thinking hard over the mystery.

About 9 o'clock, Mr. Lewis, of the wholesale firm of Lovejoy & Co., was opening the door and had just enteropening the door and had just entered when two Hawaiian women passed. One spoke to Mr. Lewis, having a slight acquaintance with him, and asked if they could get a drink of water in the place. Mr. Lewis was obliging and, lighting the office, procured a glass of water for each. While drinking, one of the women said she was sure she had says soreous slig into sure she had seen someone slip into the store and visions of burglars came uppermost in their minds.

Mr. Lewis sent one of the women lustily sang "Haul in," he closed the door, after arming himself with a re-volver of the caliber of a small cannon. Officer Manase and two other policemen came over and Manase and Mr. Lewis agreed to search the store, starting from opposite ends. Manase went to the rear and started toward front. About the middle he and Mr. Lewis came upon each other and Mr. Lewis immediately got the drop on the officer, believing he had the burglar.

In the meantime, patrons of the Royal Annex restaurant had joined the search party, and when the doors were finally closed and locked from the outside, it was felt that if there had really been a burglar inside, he was not there then.

NURSE LOST ON THE TANTALUS TRAIL

Miss Christman, a nurse at Queen's Hospital, who arrived in the islands about two months ago, had a trying experience on Tantalus Friday night. She is a trained pedestrian and tramped over Tantalus all day Friday, and started on the return trip in the afternoon. When she did not return by 7 o'clock her friends at the hospital became alarmed and organized a search party, which went over the usual trails during the night.

Yesterday forenoon they met a Jap-anese cart in which Miss Christman was ancese cart in which Miss Christman was traveling to town. She was in a sad plight. She told her friends that on the way back to town darkness had come on and not being familiar with the trails she had lost her way. While climbing on the Panoa side of the Tantalus ridge she had slipped and fallen and efforts to climb back again were fruitless. During the entire night she remained in the exposed place without covering from the wind and cold air remained in the exposed place without covering from the wind and cold air. COASTWISE ATTITUDE EMBARRASSES FREAR

Acting Governor Mott-Smith yester-day received the following cablegram from Governor Frear:

"Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.
Mott-Smith, Honolulu.
"Honolulu business organizations

now opposing special constwise law. Delegate and myself greatly disap-pointed. Withdrawal of bill means injury to Territory there and here. Gar-field concurs in this view. President is recommending special coastwise leg-islation for Hawaii.

"FREAR." This refers to the action of the Merchants' Association and the Chamber of Commerce, which early last week each reversed the position it has held for nearly two years on the coastwhen dawn came she found means to climb back to the trail and in a short gers. For nearly two years these or time she came across the Japanese and his vehicle.
